Hollywood Celebrates Public Service Recognition Week May 7-13
Renowned Artist to Inspire Employees at Strategic Plan Workshop on Thursday, May 10

HOLLYWOOD, FL – The City of Hollywood will celebrate Public Service Recognition Week May 7-13, 2007 to show appreciation to all 1,700 employees who provide quality service to ensure the City of Hollywood is “like nowhere else.”

Here is a list of events that will take place in their recognition:

Diamond Service Award Luncheon with City Manager Cameron Benson:

The Diamond Service Award Selection Committee will host a luncheon in honor of the past year’s Diamond Service Award winners and nominees.

Date: Tuesday, May 8, 2007
Time: 12:00 p.m.
Location: Hollywood Beach Community and Culture Center
1301 South Ocean Drive

Strategic Plan Workshop:

In May 2003, City Manager Cameron Benson challenged every City employee to join him in creating a vision of organizational cultural change. On Thursday, May 10, City employees from each Strategic Network will meet to discuss innovative ways to contribute to the Strategic Plan.

Keynote speaker, Erik Wahl, is a recognized artist who inspires organizations to achieve greater levels of performance. Wahl’s theme, the art of vision, is a one-of-a-kind program that will challenge City employees to discover their untapped potential.
